As well, we will visit the museum Larco Herrera, best known for the galleries, the permanent collection that tells the story of 5,000 years of pre-Columbian Peruvian history.

"Lima is the capital of Perú and it's located in the central coast of the country, by the Pacific Ocean. With 7,6 million inhabitants, Lima is a beautiful and sober city, like only a few cities in the world. UNESCO has declared the historical center of Lima Cultural Heritage of Humanity. We will visit and learn about the architecture and the majesty of past times, visible in Saint Martin and the Main Square (also known as Armas). There we will appreciate the Governmental Palace, Lima's City Hall, The Main Cathedral, Archbishopal Palace among other significant churches and noble houses which raises between stonework, carving gates, altarpieces from baroque times and a large number of mesmerizing artistic expressions.

One of the most interesting baroque architectural works is San Francisco of Asis Convent built during the XVI and XVII centuries (1537-1673), whose outstanding cloisters and lending library filled with literature treasures including important theological treaties and ancient manuscripts. Very close, underneath, the most famous crypts of America are found, the catacombs, the most important burial ground in the colonial times which preserve a strange Gregorian environment between tenebrous ghosts and spirit legends, shared through time by the oral tradition, some preserved as myths and others as reality.

Lima sheltered pre-Hispanic and pre-Inca cultures, the first one was Lima culture which its ceremonial and administrative center was Huaca Pucllana, built in small rectangular and cubic adobes 1,500 years ago".

When the visits finalized, we will have lunch in Rosa Nautica, which is an exclusive restaurant built on a pier with ocean view.

Return to the hotel and lodging in chosen hotel.

*For dinner options, we highly recommend the following restaurants: Central, Kjolle, Astrid & Gaston and Maido. Keep in mind that reservations at the mentioned restaurants require at least 2 months of anticipation.

DAY 3. LIMA/CUSCO. CITY TOUR.

Upon arrival another guide will be waiting for you and will take you to the selected hotel to register and rest a little to adapt to the height of Cusco; We recommend drinking water constantly to stay hydrated.

After a short break, the guide will take you to visit the surroundings of Cusco on foot. On this excursion you will visit the Cathedral of Cusco, on whose foundations there is an Inca site. Later we will go to the Qoricancha (Temple of the Sun), which is one of the most important and representative places of the Inca Culture.

In addition, we will visit the San Blas neighborhood, in which we will visit the workshops and shops of the best artists in Cusco, the Stone of the 12 Angles, the main temple and the San Blas market.

After this visit we will stop for lunch at the Limo restaurant, where we will taste dishes with Nikkei fusion cuisine with Peruvian ingredients. This restaurant has a privileged location in the main square of Cusco where you will have a great view while enjoying lunch.

DAY 4. FOUR RUINS, MARAS AND MORAY

We will pick you up at the hotel at 08:30 am, and thus start the visit to the following ruins:

- ❖ Sacsayhuaman, it is an Inca ceremonial fortress 2 km north of Cusco, located in a valley between the Ausangate, Pachatusan and Cinca mountains, bathed by the Tullumayo River. According to the official version, construction began in the 15th century by order of the Inca Pachacutec and was completed at the end of the following century by his son Huayna Capac.

Itinerary Details

- ❖ Kenko ro Qenqo, or Q'inq'u ('labyrinth') in Quechua, is an archaeological center located in the Sacred Valley of the Incas, 6 km from the city of Cuzco (5 min. northeast of Cuzco), at 3,580 meters above sea level. This shrine is located on what is now known as Cerro Socorro and covers an area of a little more than 3,500 square meters. At the time of the Inca Empire it was another center intended for rituals and its semicircular amphitheater and its underground galleries are of interest.
- ❖ Pucapucara, It is a military construction located near Cusco. This fortress is made up of large walls, terraces and stairways and was part of the defensive complex of Cusco and of the Inca Empire in general.
- ❖ Tambomachay, It is an archaeological site that was intended for the worship of water and so that the head of the Inca Empire could rest. It consists of a series of aqueducts, channels and several waterfalls that run through the rocks. Here there was also a kind of royal garden whose irrigation came from a complicated system of channels specially made for this function. It also constituted a zone of control for the people who came from Antisuyo, because there was a control tower there.

After visiting Tambomachay we will continue our course towards Moray and Maras. Our first stop will be at Mill Centro restaurant; where art, science, cuisine, laboratory, experimentation and innovation strengthen ties to make an experience possible through a tasting menu focused on high altitude ecosystems (it is very important to make a reservation 2 or 4 months in advance since the spaces per day are limited).

After lunch we will proceed to visit the tourist complex of Moray, which is located about 7 km southwest of Maras; It is the only archaeological group of its kind in the region. These are depressions or gigantic natural holes in the surface of the land that were used to build terraces or agricultural platforms with their respective irrigation canals in their contours, it is therefore a prototype of a greenhouse or biological experimental station quite advanced for its time that helped the American man of antiquity to inherit to humanity 60% of the vegetable products that he consumed, the Andean man consumes a thousand and a half different varieties of potatoes, a hundred and a half of corn, and many other products.

After this great experience we will go to the Salineras de Maras (located northwest of the town of Maras), where we will have the opportunity to closely observe about 3000 small wells with an average area of about 5 m², which during the drought are filled or "irrigated" every 3 days with salty water that emanates from a natural spring located in the upper part of the wells so that, as the water evaporates, the salt contained in it gradually solidifies. Later the salt is beaten and thus granulated; the salt will then be bagged in plastic bags and sent to the markets of the region; today that salt is being iodized, which is why its consumption is not harmful.

Once the visits are finished, we will head to the Sacred Valley to leave you at the selected hotel so you can rest.

Overnight at the selected hotel

DAY 5. VISIT TO VALLE SAGRADO

This tour starts at 08:30 - 9:00 am approximately and lasts approximately 08 hours. Our first destination will be the Inca citadel of Pisac, where we will visit the typical Indian market, where we will have the opportunity to learn about the customs of its inhabitants and observe the products they make to market, then we go to the City of Urubamba, traveling to Vilcanota river banks. These are the places that we will visit on our excursion:

- ❖ Pisac - Archaeological complex
The Pisac archaeological complex is located on top of a mountain from where a good part of the Sacred Valley is overlooked. This wonderful place is made up of groups of platforms and architectural structures scattered on the slopes and at the top of the mountain, Pisac is one of the most beautiful monumental centers in the valley, combining the landscape with the impeccable finish of its buildings.
- ❖ Pisac craft market
Located 30 km from the city of Cusco, the main square of Pisac houses this market, a colorful and happy place, where the most famous Cusco handicrafts made by Andean hands are exhibited, among the handicrafts, textile pieces, ponchos, bags, etc. stand out. , and ceramic crafts, which are reproductions of Inca archeology pieces, such as queros (ceremonial vessels), necklaces, etc. Indigenous merchants and artisans from many towns come to this fair, dressed in their typical costumes.

After these visits we will go to the Ollantaytambo fortress, but previously we will make a stop at La Hacienda Huayocari where we will enjoy a tasty lunch and the hospitality of a traditional Peruvian family. Each visitor is received by a member of the family. Here you will find authentic Peruvian homemade food, be it in the private lounge with the colonial carvings and crosses that brighten its walls, or in the grand lounge with ceramic jugs and plates, colonial glazed from floor to ceiling, surrounded of large windows overlooking the garden, with an unbeatable view of the Urquillos gorge and the Sacred Valley. After this small stop, we will head towards the Ollantaytambo fortress.

❖ Ollantaytambo

Built to monitor the entrance to this part of the valley and protect it from possible invasions by the inhabitants of the jungle. We will have the opportunity to walk through the small streets of the town and thus have a clear idea of what this military, religious and cultural center was like during the Inca Empire.

At the end we will head to the selected hotel in the Sacred Valley.

Overnight at the selected hotel.

“The reason why the Spanish did not get to know it is unknown, although the existence of a place located at north of Cusco called Picchu is mentioned by a source (manuscript of a Spanish file), which almost certainly clarifies that they knew of the place, although apparently, they never reached it. Cultural Heritage of Humanity by UNESCO since 1983, as part of a whole cultural and ecological complex known as "Historic Sanctuary of Machu Picchu" (326km2 in the Vilcanota-Urubamba river basin, the sacred river of the Incas, the Willka mayu), Machu Picchu is without question the most visited place in Peru, and perhaps in America. In 2007, it was also declared one of the New 7 Wonders of the Modern World”.

Once this great experience is finished, we will begin our descent by bus to the town of Aguas Calientes to board the return train. On this occasion we will also use the Hiram Bingham Train which departure time is at 5:50 p.m. and its destination can be towards Ollantaytambo (one hour and thirty minutes) or Poroy (two hours and forty minutes approximately) depending on what time of year choose to make the trip.
